NTL ponders pulling plug on its Bethel operations

Members' input sought on 'whether to continue to operate at Bethel'

Faced with a declining market share, escalating costs and complaints from its clients and members about facilities in Bethel, National Training Laboratories has begun reevaluating its operations here.

The organization's board of directors is currently studying a variety of options, including discontinuing or substantially cutting back on training activities in Bethel.

A decision is expected by the end of the year, according to NTL Executive Director Lennox E. Joseph.

Since 1947 NTL has been bringing laboratory participants to Bethel to take part in group- and organizational-dynamics courses.

Last summer nearly 1,000 people attended NTL workshops here, and approximately 100 others took courses in Bethel during the remainder of the year.

NTL maintains year-round administrative headquarters in Alexandria, Va., and offers courses at locations across the country.

Its Bethel facilities, however, are the only campus owned by the organization. Joseph estimated that approximately 40 percent of NTL's business takes place here.

NTL has been traditionally associated with Bethel, and that association remains an important part of the organization's marketing effort, Joseph said.

But in a letter to NTL members, Joseph and Darya Funches, chairwoman of the NTL board, said that NTL has "had numerous complaints from both participants and members about facilities and training areas, accessibility to air and ground transportation, and problems in finding decent lodging in the Bethel area."

And, the letter goes on, "From an operational standpoint, costs of keeping Bethel are escalating."

The letter also states, "NTL is now facing a number of market forces that drive its operations," and, while the overall market for its programs (primarily middle managers in profit and nonprofit organizations) has held steady, NTL has been losing market share to its competitors.

The letter concludes by asking members to fill out a survey seeking their comments and feelings on Bethel.

According to the letter, the results of the survey will be taken "into account in making the important decision whether to continue to operate at Bethel."

Joseph told The Citizen that the survey is one of a number of marketing and strategic planning studies that will be reviewed by the board, as it attempts to set a new direction for the organization.

He said the board has also ruled out the possibility of upgrading and expanding the Bethel facility—although it would cost a lot of money to convert the facility to year-round, he said, and

Merchants see construction work cutting into Main Street business

Shops in upper part of the village seem to be hardest hit by access problems

As they wait for the dust to clear from the downtown revitalization project—and it will be a while yet—Main Street merchants have varied assessments of what impact sewer digging has had on their summer business.

68 Gould graduates told 'You can end the suffering'

Gould Academy commencement speaker William Lange Saturday ended an anecdotal address punctuated with Yankee humor with an appeal to the new graduates to end the suffering that exists in so many places in the world.

Lange told the story of a Sunday school class in which boys sat in a circle, each punching the boy next to him on the shoulder, harder and harder, until one cried out the words the minister had given them that would end the game: "I can stop the hurt."

The boy became a hero amongst his peers, not a coward, and Lange asked each senior to do his or her part to "stop the hurt" at whatever level possible in their lives.

In the presentation of awards, Martha Newell, daughter of Charlie and Cathy Newell, daughter of Bethel, won the top senior honor, the Headmaster's Bowl, in addition to the Alumni Association Award, the "Hi" Berry Award for Athletics, and academic book prizes in English and Spanish.

Jennifer Brown, daughter of Dillon and Paula Gillies of Bethel, received the Book Prize in Advanced Biology. The top junior honor, the Edmond J. Vachon Award, went to Molly Gartrell, daughter of Donald and Sarah Gartrell of Warner, N.H.

businesses in this area are down," he said. "And certainly people will probably avoid coming to town unless they have to. It's been quiet during the week, but business has been fairly decent on the weekend when they're not working."

Preble said the pharmacy's greatest concern was that elderly customers who were put off by the construction or difficult access to the store would not come in for their prescriptions. So the store ran a delivery service when the digging was right out front. He said if the entrance is blocked again, the store will again begin delivering prescriptions.

Across the street at Bethel Savings Bank, Jannine Buck said she's also noticed a drop off in elderly customers' visits to the bank. "It's

School board looks at impact of change in district funding formula

After skirting the issue at two previous board meetings, the SAD #44 board of directors voted Monday night to discuss the district's present funding formula. The discussion, however, was largely for the purpose of public information; the directors indicated that they do not intend to initiate any action on the formula themselves.

The discussion of the formula was originally called for at the first board meeting following Newry's failed attempt to withdraw from SAD #44. But the directors decided at that time to postpone the issue on procedural grounds, because it did not appear as an agenda item. The issue was placed on the next agenda, but postponed again by the board, because that meeting ran late.

Monday's discussion focused on clarifying the procedure involved in changing the formula.

Board Chairman Margaret Hand told the directors that the board played no roll in initiating a change in the formula. She said a petition signed by 10 percent of voters in the district who voted in the last gubernatorial election must be presented to the board calling for a change.

A committee would then be

Kangas leads Rebels into softball playoffs

The Telstar girl's softball team closed out their regular season with an outstanding 12-4 record and will start playoff action next week.

The Class C state playoffs begin June 5. The Rebels seeding has not yet been determined, since not all yet schools are finished with their season.

However, Coach Jim Lunney said he's hoping that the girls will take one of the top four places, so that at least one of their games will be played at home.

The coach attributed the team's success to superior pitching and a formidable lineup of hot batters.

Pitcher Staci Kangas matched the team's winning 12-4 record. The girls four losses were out of their league, to Class B schools Lisbon and Madison.

Kangas pitched 105 innings this season, striking out over 100 batters and walking only 23 opponents. She gave up only 16 earned runs in the 16 game season and threw five shutouts and two no-hitters.

Hot bats also helped the Rebels

Bikers better beware—Bethel police alert for pedaling perps

Bethel Chief of Police Dale Bellman announced last week that the police department will be stepping up its enforcement of vehicle laws pertaining to the operation of bicycles.

Bellman said bicycles must obey the same traffic laws as motor vehicles. "Police will be looking for proper lights at night and reflectors," he said.

The department has received several complaints regarding the operation of bicycles in town, Bellman said. Bicycles are supposed to travel in the same direction as motor vehicle traffic, Bellman said. "People are complaining that bicycles are riding on the sidewalk or on the wrong side of the road. It's not young children we're having a problem with. It's adults and older kids—especially at night."

Telstar students safe after OSCL van rolls over

Thirteen Telstar students escaped serious injury Thursday when the van they were traveling in was accidentally forced off Interstate 95 near Old Town. The students were returning from an outdoor skills leadership class canoe trip on the East Branch of the Penobscot River.

According to a report of the incident released by the SAD #44 superintendent's office, the accident happened as a passenger vehicle attempted to pass one of the two Hurricane Island Outward Bound School vans, which were pulling canoe trailers that had been contracted for the outing. Both vans were being driven by Outward Bound staff members.

As the passenger car came alongside the front of the van, the report said, the driver of the car apparently lost control and swerved into the left front of the van.

The van then jackknifed in the road-

QUICK THINKING, AMY

To the Editor:

Amy Bennett daughter of Donald and Cheryl Bennett should be commended on her quick action on May 17, when the construction crew for the sewer replacement severed the power line by the monument on lower Main Street. By tradition, children wait in this area for the school bus in the early morning.

If Amy had not looked up and been aware of what was going to happen when she saw the crane part of the heavy equipment snag the line and told the kids, "come on let's book it," there could have been serious results.

Amy is to be commended for her quick thinking. Thank you Amy.

EDITORIAL WAS ON TARGET

To the Editor:

In response to a recent letter to the editor regarding the Bethel Bible School (EBS) banquet, in which Mr. Daniels was criticized for his views, I write in defense of Mr. Daniels' views. Rather than finding his views petty, "narrow minded" or "mean-spirited", I found his commentary chock full of common sense.

I wish the EBS staff the merriest of parties as it is a well deserved one. I do, however, agree with Mr. Daniels that it would have been a nice gesture had the EBS staff chosen one of the superb eating establishments right here in SAD #44. Not to single this particular group out, it might be a nice gesture if we all consider these local eating establishments, particularly when dealing with functions or banquets that involve our community.

Even more so than some other western Maine towns, the Bethel area experiences an irregular commercial level, and shopping locally, particularly during "slow" months would be quite beneficial and greatly appreciated by the whole of the community. Many of our local businesses are struggling to keep their staff on and their doors open; it would certainly do no one in the community well should these doors close.

The concern of the economics of the community is an issue which cannot be ignored, and unfortunately interstate fences are somewhat impermeable in terms of dispensing our hard-earned monies. This is not to say we do not have a choice where our money will be spent; only that it is good when one SAD #44 function benefits another SAD #44 establishment. After all, great strides have been taken, particularly in the last few years, by local restaurateurs to offer extremely diverse and excellent cuisine. This benefits not only our taste buds but helps our area to appreciate in general. Perhaps instead of holding functions in out-of-state restaurants for decades, one might take the time to experience what one's hometown has to offer. And if in the process, one helps a local establishment to meet their hefty, off-season budget, well then, all the better. (Surely anyone who has worked in a local corner store, for example, should be able to appreciate the importance of local patronage, without which, one's year-round employment surely would have ceased years ago.)

If Mr. Daniels' editorial was a little overprotective of our community maybe we can use a little paternal codding these days. Once again, this is not written as an attack on the EBS staff as they are to be applauded for their accomplishments; this is written in praise of Mr. Daniels' conscience-raising sentiments.

A CHANCE TO TRY

To the Editor:

On the weekend of May 10, the beautiful woods of Bethel provided a setting for the annual Jeep Jamboree. It always promises to be a fun weekend for Jeepers from all over the U.S. Mother Nature also helped with a gorgeous, sunny weekend after the recent rains. These rains provided the participants with large, challenging, mud holes that tested driving talents of many 4x4s. Geoffrey Gaudreau of Gaudreau's Repair on Rte. 26, acts as a host and guide for the 100 Jeeps on the many varied trails.

Geoff recently provided a "dream come true" training for a Telstar student. Walter Hopkins, a junior at Telstar, did a week long training for Career Week at Gaudreau's Repair. After proving that he had natural talents and interest in body work and mechanics, Geoff agreed to take Walter on as an apprentice-in-training. This has been something Walter has always wanted to do and had never had the opportunity to prove himself in this field. He is now training with Geoff evenings and two weekdays through a special work-study program with the Composite Room. In preparation for the Jamboree he spent many hours helping with body work and repairs on the Jeeps, which Geoff provides for others. This proved worthwhile, when he too was able to join in on the fun guiding at the Jamboree. Congratulations and thanks to Geoff and his family for another successful Jamboree weekend, and especially for providing a situation for one more student to begin to reach his goals and aspirations for his future. This shows one of the many ways in which our school's and community can work successfully together.

WHY MUA SUPPORTS THE NFLC

To the Editor:

In an article in the May 22 issue of The Bethel Citizen, I was quoted as saying that the Multiple Use Association supports federal legislation authorizing continuation of the work of the Northern Forest Lands Council for another four years. The Northern Forest Lands Council (formerly the Northern Forest Lands Task Force), has already completed a one-year study and made recommendations concerning 26 million acres of forest land in Northern Maine, western New Hampshire, Vermont and western New York. Since the Multiple Use Association has traditionally been opposed to recommendations regarding local land management which are made by outsiders and since we have been so fortunate to receive a lot of local support for our work, I would like to explain our reasons for supporting this proposed legislation.

We think this study can work differently from other studies for the following reasons:

1. The intent of the study, to explore threats to the northern forest lands, is good. Congressional representatives from the states involved in the study seem to be well aware that massive change in land ownership and use should not come about as a result of the study. In a letter to the USFS, Senators Rudman and Leahy of Vermont said, "We are seeking reinforcement rather than replacement of the patterns of ownership and use that have characterized these lands."

2. The Council is not supposed to have regulatory powers. Its mission is simply to find the real threats and recommend ways to reduce them.

3. The governors of the four states involved in the Study have each appointed three good people to the Council. All appointments show concern for the environment and most are reasonable people. Maines Edward Johnston, Executive Director of the Maine Forest Products Council, Ed Meadows, Commissioner of the Department of Conservation and Jerry Bley, a consultant formerly with the Natural Resources Council of Maine. Mr. Johnston is a very effective spokesman for the wood products industry and Mr. Meadows has great knowledge of Maine's woods resources. Mr. Bley shows evidence that he has learned much about the environmental benefits of a working forest.

4. The Study will be controlled by the appointed council members. This is in contrast to the recently completed first part of the study in which the U.S. Forest Service heard the comments of the Task Force members and then went its own way. In its first report, the USFS recommended "greenland use, despite Task Force opposition. The USFS will have only one of thirteen votes."

5. It has been MUA's position right along that the biggest threat to our forest lands is public misperceptions. It is possible that the Council will find that some lands such as remote lake

COMMUNITY SERVICE AWARD WINNER—Newry Community Church Pastor Rodney Hanscom of Bethel, left, Nancy, left, and wife, Kathi, look on. Hanscom was awarded for his devotion to the Newry church and his leadership role in other various community activities. The award was presented during the program for the grange's community day. Grange Master Wight also officially announced that ownership of the grange would transfer to the town of Newry. Selectman Steve Wight acknowledged the transfer and said he hopes the town will continue to use the hall as a center gathering place for town suppers and community activities.

FROM THE

Bethel Town Office

I would like to continue my remarks about the Downtown Revitalization Project. As you may know, the town will not charge property owners a connection fee to reconnect to the new sewer line. But this doesn't mean we get through this without personal expense.

In order to connect, or reconnect, each property must have a building sewer, (the pipe from the sewer main to the building) which meets the requirements of the state plumbing code and the town's Construction Specifications for Sewer and Storm Drains. Essentially this means it should be constructed of PVC (cast iron, though rare, is also acceptable).

I have been informed by the town's engineer/inspector that the service crew reported that to date, they have discovered only one PVC pipe currently connected to the sewer main on Main Street. If you own a building which is connected to the sewer line on Main Street between Vernon and Church, you will need to replace your building sewer. This may be done by hiring a contractor or an excavator, or you can do it yourself. You may not connect to the new line until it has been tested. There will be an announcement when that test has been performed. Meanwhile though, you can hire the contractor, or buy your pipe and start digging your trench. Please note: it is not necessary to lay "Schedule 40" PVC for building sewer. "Schedule 40" is for interior plumbing and is more expensive than what you need. Once you are finished and the test completed, you need to have the plant operator (Robbie Gundersen) inspect and record the "tie-in" of your line to the sewer main. When you have done that, you can connect the house end to your plumbing system.

The town also requires that building drains, storm drains, and sump pumps connected to the public sewer system be disconnected. If you currently have any "clean water drainage" system hooked into your sewer system, that will need to be redirected. According to the town ordinance, where a public storm drain is available, you must connect to it or to a natural outlet approved by the plant operator. In the construction area, public storm drains are or will be available on Main Street, High Street and the bottom of both Spring and Elm Streets. Where there is no public storm drain, you may drain to anyplace that will not cause water to run into the street or your neighbor's property. Call the code enforcement officer (Sam Timberlake) for help with this decision.

Each property owner should begin planning now for the work which will be necessary. Call a contractor for a trenching estimate. Call a plumber for an estimate if you need to disconnect a sump pump or want to move your interior lines while you have the chance. Once you have estimates, decide if you need financing.

For very to moderately low income owners, Linda Saunders administers a Loan/Grant Program. I am putting together a loan program for people not eligible for Linda's program which enables you to repay the Sewer Department through your quarterly sewer bills. I expect this will be approved by the June 3 selectmen's meeting so that I may take applications beginning June 4.

Let me take this opportunity to correct the wrong impression possibly created by the article in the daily newspaper of May 22. Nobody thinks it will cost $45 to complete this work. That amount had been mentioned as the price of backflow valves only. Depending on the extent of work necessary, you may be looking at bills of hundreds of dollars.

make it into the playoffs. Leading the team in regular season hitting was Chris Delano with a batting average of .500 and a team-leading 25 hits. As a team, the Rebels hit an impressive .300 for the year.

The Rebels will face some tough competition in the play-offs. Coach Lunney said Traip Academy will place high in the standings and has won the Class C state Championship for the past three years.

But the coach is optimistic about the Rebels' championship run. "Chances are we won't see anybody as good as Staci in the play-offs. We have as good a team as anybody in Class C and Staci should make the difference."

slowed our traffic down quite a bit," she said. "A lot of our older customers don't seem to be coming in as frequently."

Main Street merchants are also bothered by the dirt, dust and noise that goes along with the sewer project. Ellen Whitney, attorney Michael O'Donnell's secretary, said, "It's extremely inconvenient, dusty and dirty, but it has to be done."

When construction crews are digging in front of the Four Seasons Restaurant and Inn, Chef Ray Peterson said he closes down. "It's so slow this time of year that I don't think I would have made anything anyway," he said. "They dig a hole. They get in. They fill it in quickly and get out. That's great. Other than the dust, it's fine."

It is business as usual at Charlie's Place, employees there said. The digging has been all around the store on the corner of Elm and Main streets, but business hasn't dropped off.

Further down Main Street, merchants report that other than the mess, and noise, they can't complain too much.

Because there is easier access to businesses on lower Main Street, merchants there said trade hasn't been hurt much.

Dwayne Bennett, manager of the Bethel Irving Station, said his customers can use Mechanic, High and Main streets to get to his pumps. "Gas sales are behind last year," he said, "but I'm not worried. Most of our clients are regulars and they'll find their way to the pumps."

John Caron of Casco Northern Bank said business at the bank has kept pretty steady. He noted that bank customers could also use High Street to get into the bank's parking lot.

Employees at Brooks Brothers, the post office and the Fashion Basket all said that other than battling dust, it's been business as usual for them.

But not so at the nearby #1 Video, where owner Karen Wright said, "It definitely has affected business."

"People are just not bothering to come downtown," Wright said. "I think people are just staying away. I'm plagued that its being done, but it's a struggle—especially on top of a recessionary year."

In order to deal with the dust in the air many businesses are keeping their doors and windows shut, despite the record warm May temperatures.

Tom McGinniss at the Holiday House said he is wondering about the effect the dust will have on his inn's new paint job. The dust on the shingles is very visible, but McGinniss said, "You have to live with it. It's a brand new paint job, but you can't hold anybody responsible, because the dust comes with the territory."

The street digging also adds almost as many detours for pedestrians as for drivers. But Main Street employees say they are learning to deal with the personal inconvenience and the disruption of their normal routines.

Just getting to the post office can be a challenge said W.J. Wheeler employee Cathryn Lovejoy. "It's an adventure every day that I go to the post office. I stand out there like a sea captain surveying the route, trying to figure out which way to go."

By the end of June, Town Manager Madeleine Henley said—"They've promised they'll be done by the end of June and they've promised they'll be long gone by Mollycoddett Day."

Henley said that the only thing that could hold up the project now is homeowners delaying hook-up to the new system.

way, spun around 180 degrees and overturned as it went off the roadway. The van landed back on its wheels, off the roadway.

All passengers in the van, which included the Outward Bound instructor, Telstar teacher Charlie Raymond and 13 outdoor skills students, were checked for injuries at Eastern Maine Medical Center in Bangor.

According to the superintendent's report, all passengers suffered bumps and bruises. Six students received cuts, deep bruises, strains and sprains. Everyone in the van was wearing seatbelts.

All personnel on the trip returned home late Thursday evening. The accident is still under investigation, but according to Superintendent Dewaine Craig, it appears at this time that the passing vehicle was the sole cause of the accident.

Craig said, "I have been told by several sources that the actions of our students at the scene of the accident are to be commended. The training that the students had received in the OSLC course, (first aid, handling oneself in an emergency), was placed into action—without a complication. The OSLC students, OSLC instructor Steve Keane, and Charlie Raymond are to be commended for the fine job they did."

Mill vehicles taken for weekend joyrides

Police are investigating two weekend burglaries at West Bethel wood mills.

Sunday morning employees of Bethel Furniture Stock reported a forklift was missing. Police Officer Mike Fortin followed the tracks of the forklift into the woods behind the mill and found it stuck, but undamaged, on a nearby dirt road.

Later on Sunday police received a call from a Grover Hill resident who said an unknown vehicle was parked on his property. Police determined it had been last registered to Newton & Tibbetts Company in West Bethel, and had been recently in use as a yard truck.

Bethel Police Chief Dale Bellman said he thinks the two incidents are related, and police are investigating several leads to possible suspects.

WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT—Local Memorial Day events drew good crowds once again this year, as residents took time to remember those who put their lives on the line to defend our priceless freedoms. Here, two small flags fly in front of the Newry memorial to the town's World War II servicemen.

Andover selectmen opt not to change fiscal year

Andover selectmen voted unanimously last week to not change the town's fiscal year to run from July 1 to June 30, instead of the present January 1 to December 31. The vote followed a recent meeting with Bethel town officials who had already made the change and advised against it.

Selectman Wayne Delano said, "I was discussing it with (Bethel town clerk) Merton Brown and he said they wouldn't do it again. Because of the change, for instance, some of the residents had their name in the town report as not paying taxes when they had paid them when due. I'm with (Selectman) Brian (Mills). I can see collecting taxes twice a year though."

Treasurer Alex LeGault also pointed out other problems the town would incur with the change, and Selectman Chair Fred Emerson referred to the issue as a "dead horse."

The board agreed, however, to discuss further the idea of collecting real estate taxes on a twice yearly basis.

CPS holds annual Young Author's Day

Crescent Park Elementary School held its annual Young Author's Day last week.

The keynote speaker was author and storyteller David Newfield. Guest authors and illustrators also joined in the activities.

All third-grade through fifth-grade students attended the keynote presentation and participated in three other workshop sessions. Each student had an opportunity to meet with an author and illustrator, and one session was devoted to sharing the students' works with others.

The day's presenters included: Newfield, writers Phyllis Dock and Sue Farrar, and artists and/or illustrators Arla Patch, David Theriault and Chris Szente.

The school's first and second grades worked with writer and illustrator Ann Hobart.

Each year the students also publish a book of their own stories. This year the book was dedicated to retiring teacher Meg Cousins and Chapter I teacher Deb Germain, who will be on a leave of absence for the next school year.

Cousins was thanked for her 19 years of dedication to Bethel students and wished well for her retirement.

School board

established made up of two municipal representatives and one school board member from each of the five district towns.

Following a review of the issue, that committee would vote on whether or not to recommend to district voters that they change the current funding formula.

If the majority vote of the committee is for a change, then a district public hearing on the issue would be held—followed by a district-wide referendum vote.

The district's funding formula is currently based on 100 percent municipal valuation. Bethel Director John Brown provided the board with the funding figures, based on the FY '92 budget, outlining the impact on the various district towns if the formula was changed to 80 percent valuation and 20 percent student population. Those figures indicate that Newry and Greenwood would pay less money into the district, but Bethel, Andover and Woodstock would pay more.

Newry's bill (currently $758,706) would drop by $115,398, and Greenwood's ($448,366) would drop by $9,378. Bethel's bill ($1,100,904) would increase $34,719; Andover's bill ($424,313) would increase $17,572, and Woodstock would be hardest hit, with its bill ($389,969) increasing by $72,373.

In other business Monday night, the board approved Loraine LaTour to a first probationary contract as a licensed Maine social worker at a Woodstock School for the 1991-92 school year. She will serve as the school's guidance counselor. Superintendent Dewaine Craig said that state guidelines allowed the district to hire a certified social worker to fill a guidance counselor's position.

News from

Woodstock School

A message from the principal
We are treated to two wonderful performances by the Ha' Penny Theatre. The students enjoyed the thrills and excitement of Trouble in the Afternoon. The evening took us to the Land of Australia.

The Woodstock fourth-grade students received T-shirts in honor of their effort and pride during the MEA (Maine Educational Assessment) testing. Congratulations, Grade Four.

We are proud of the Woodstock Girl Scouts and Brownies, who were honored on Tuesday at the year end activities. The scout leaders should take pride in their efforts and those of the children they guide.

We enjoyed the Volunteer Recognition Night. Thanks go to the many people who worked hard and helped the Woodstock children.

Great job, Woodstock softball team. The team is performing very well, and is representing the Woodstock school spirit.

On a personal note, I would like to thank all of those members of the Woodstock Family who have provided evening meals for my family. All of the meals have been wonderful treats during our time of need. Your thoughts, wishes and kindness have been essential to our recovery. Thank you.

CPS Students Win Scholarships to Maine Conservation School.
Jayson Hebert and Betsy Kuzyk have been announced winners of an environmental contest for Crescent Park School fifth-graders. They have been awarded scholarships to a one-week summer program at the Maine Conservation School on Lake Christopher in Bryant Pond.

The scholarships are sponsored by the Bethel Conservation Commission, which secured the funds from private donations. Linda Wheeler, Crescent Park fifth-grade science teacher, arranged the environmental contest.

At the Conservation School, Jayson and Betsy will live for five days and study the natural resources of Maine under field conditions. Topics such as water, soils, forests, and wildlife will be covered. The Conservation School's objective is to foster, through education, an understanding of Maine's environment and to instill a sense of individual responsibility for conservation of natural resources.

A week in the life of HILLARY HARRISON

Hello, all. It seems like the school year will never end. I'm so excited about the summer. I was watching the news a while back and they were talking about shortening the summers and lengthening the school year because kids need more knowledge and forget everything over the summer days—so a lot of the first school weeks are spent reviewing.

Another thing that they were talking about was spreading the one big vacation into four short ones. This was a great idea, I thought.

In school last week my class and I began dissecting the earthworm. I thought that it would be very disgusting but after the first cut the rest was like cutting a piece of cake. Next we are planning to dissect a perch and a grasshopper, but that is nothing compared to my sister dissecting a pig in the sophomore class. I suppose I should be a surgeon when I grow up because I got an A on the dissection. I don't know though if I can handle the first cut again. It's the worst of the entire project.

CONSERVATION SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED—Crescent Park Principal David Murphy announced last week that Jayson Hebert and Betsy Kuzyk have won scholarships to the Maine Conservation School in Bryant Pond. The Bethel Conservation Commission, represented by Walter Hatch, awarded the two scholarships. The students will spend a week this summer in the conservation school. CPS fifth-grade science teacher Linda Wheeler organized the competition. CPS fifth-graders who competed wrote essays concerning conservation and accompanied them with illustrations.

Our science fairs were a grand success. Congratulations go to all participants and winners. Judging was a challenge as always, as there were several excellent projects.

However, decisions were made and the fourth-grade winners were: Johanna Farrar, 1st place, with her project on seeds and plants; Susan Herrick, 2nd place, Asthma; Lisa Boutlier, 3rd, The Eye. Fifth-grade winners were: Erin Doughty and Tovah Everett, 1st, Hip and Knee Replacement. There was a tie for 2nd place. Carrie Hammond and Danell Tripp, Mice; David Stearns, Electricity, and Shawn Coffin took 3rd with his project on the water wheel. Sixth-grade winners were Chad Chase and Scott Pawlowski, 1st, Ants; Hope Lovejoy and Jason Hill, 2nd, Hot and Cold Cereals; Shannon Farris, Emily Cole and Angie Waterhouse, 3rd, Eggs.

The lower grades presented their projects on a different day and can well be proud of their efforts. Parents and students were able to see all these projects also.

The kindergarten classes are continuing to make their books of numbers. They have planted begonia tubers, thanks to the South Paris Agway store. They are working on blossom art work.

The first-graders had fun with their free RIF books. Many books were from an "I Can Read It By Myself" series and several children immediately began to read their selections. They did not have to wait until they got home to be read to. In addition to their own science fair project that was part of their signs of spring lessons, the class was displaying tadpoles in all stages of development.

Juanita Toothaker was the student of the week. The whole class is working on multiplication arrays (sets) to understand the way of multiplication. The second-graders wanted to welcome back Dwayne and Mill's dad from the Persian Gulf and they created a money tree to present to the family.

The third-graders are working on letter writing in language arts and on map skills in social studies. They have worked with multiplication arrays and are working on learning the facts now.

The fourth-graders are continuing with their CAP unit on defenses with Mr. Grigsby. Mr. Litchfield is collecting their written book reports, checking their spelling and getting the class started on their state reports.

Mrs. Morse, our nurse, has been visiting the fifth-grade this week for a series of lessons on adolescence and puberty. Oral book reports are continuing. One of our final projects for the year will be to present a mini social studies fair to ourselves and other classes. Each student will choose a figure from U.S. history, become that person for a time, and present what they have learned. We hope this will be a fun project.

The sixth-graders were glad to welcome Mrs. DeCato and Mr. McCarthy, who came to present a program on Junior High Orientation. It won't be long until they will become seventh-graders. They have finished their book, "The White Mountain," and have submitted a written report over it. This week's social studies presenters were Hope Lovejoy and Kim Pearson, Jason Eastman and Alicia Coolidge. Their subject was the Caribbean islands.

By ARLINE BERNIER

Roland and Arline Bernier were tendered an open house 50th anniversary party at the Newry Grange Hall Saturday, May 18th by their adult children and their spouses. The beautiful and tasty wedding anniversary cake was made by Flossie Bernier.

Among the guests were the best man at the 1941 ceremony, Fred Judkins. Maid of Honor, Sylvia Wight, flower girl, Ruth Bailey and usher Albert Judkins. The couple was presented jackets adorned with a variety of transferred photo copies of family snapshots. Many lovely cards and gifts were received.

The hall was decorated with apple blossoms, jonquils and lilacs. It is a most unusual spring when these three beautiful flowers are in bloom at the same time.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Bernier, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Green, Tara and Jeffrey, of Desoto, Texas, Shannon Miller and Charles and Alisha Bernier of San Antonio spent several days in Upton with relatives.

Margaret Mitchell spent a week in Sebago with her sister Tilly Grundy. V. Bernier, Roland and Arline Bernier went to Pittsfield, Wednesday to visit Mabel Andrews as Vi had business in nearby Norridgewock.

Another week gone and the 20th of May already. Where does the time go so fast! A beautiful morning but guess we need rain again. The storm Friday evening wrecked havoc at the May Fair at the Holy Cross School in Lewiston. My daughter had worked with a couple of helpers to get set up for the Fair to begin on Saturday morning and the storm really ruined most of the work she had done in that eight hours of work on Friday. Don't know how the wind was up this way as I was in Lewiston to see the girls dance but the storm was bad there with gale force winds at times. That is what did the damage that had to be contended with.

As I look out the window I can see a jet going through the sky and the streak it leaves behind as it goes. So many things one can see if they look out the window at the right time.

Thursday evening was to be a grange meeting at Dixfield with Mt. Sugarloaf and Oxford as a three point meeting. Franklin Grange was to fill the chairs as officers and Oxford put on the program. It was a good meeting and am sure all had a good time.

Friday was a very busy day for me as I was to get ready to go to Auburn to my daughter's home for the weekend and see the girls dance Friday evening at their recital.

How cute all the dancers are when they come on stage and perform. Some are so fantastic and others are so scared they can't perform good but they all deserve a good round of applause for coming on stage and doing what they do. It was very good, what we saw of it. The girls were tired so didn't stay too long after they had done their performance.

As I said in the beginning, the storm that had gone through had done a lot of damage to the work that Nonie and helpers had done during the day Friday but they were not told of it until about 10:30 that evening. Saturday morning they were up even before the girls were to go to repair what they could to be ready for folks coming to the fair. Mike's father took off for a dog show so the girls and I were left alone at the house and they slept late.

After they got up in the morning we went to work to get things done. We were going to make cookies and watch for the troops coming home also. We wanted to be out waving to them but got so interested in making cookies that some of the parade passed by before we realized what was going on. However, we got out in time to see the three bus loads of troopers go by and wave at them. What a line of traffic there was! There had been a lot of older cars lead the parade before the busses came along.

We had a good time and got the cookies done and they were good. The girls helped me a lot that day so we got outside for awhile. We didn't stay too close to the kitchen door which is the one they use most of the time as there is a bird's nest in a hanging plant just outside the door and it has eggs in it. Mother bird gets very upset when disturbed and flies away till we are out of the way. Not a very good choice for her nest and it makes one wonder why when the plant gets watered most every other day but there she is anyway.

Went to the May Fair on Sunday and helped them for three hours by sitting in the Big Raffle booth selling tickets. The girls had to do their dance and Nonie and Mike were busy here and there doing whatever needed doing. A very tired family when the day was over and Mike brought me home.

Russell said he and Peggy went to Tom's apartment on Friday evening to play Triominoes and on Saturday they went to Grange at South Paris and in the evening they went dancing at West Sumner. Busy-busy-busy.

Guess Mary must be busy as I can't seem to get her on the phone to see if she has any news. However, don't forget the dance at West Paris Grange Hall on June 1st. Come for a good time as usual.

Russell is trying to get some of his garden planted and has peas up and doing good. Have seen others also but hope none get frost bitten to set them back.

Take care one and all and have a good week ahead. See you next week.

Vivian Barlow has returned to East Andover for the summer after spending the winter in Vernon, B.C. near her daughter, Mrs. Richard Bennett. Mrs. Bennett accompanied her mother back to Maine and remained to visit awhile.

Mr. and Mrs. George Morton recently returned from visiting their daughter, Annie and Mike Kelley, and Aaron in Mountain View, Calif. While visiting, they enjoyed a trip to Lake Tahoe, Nev.

Get well wishes to Colby Roberts who is a surgical patient at CMMC, Lewiston.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale McKay recently returned from visiting relatives in Sacramento, Calif. While there they enjoyed a trip to Washington and Oregon visiting friends.

Sunday, June 2, the Ellis River Riders are hosting an open house. This is a great way to see all the local horses at their best. Good luck to all that participate.

Many thanks to my mom, Bev Swan, for submitting the news for the column during my absence. She did a terrific job!

Sinusitis: Causes and Cures

The sinuses are air-filled cavities inside the bones of the face and are connected to the nasal passages. The sinus cavities are lined with a membrane that produces a sticky liquid called mucus, or phlegm. Under normal circumstances, the sinuses are kept clear when the mucus that is produced drains into the nasal passages.

If the sinus cavities become blocked for any reason, as from the congestion associated with a cold, they do not drain as they should. Sinusitis (inflammation of the sinus membranes) results from this poor drainage. Sinusitis also may be the result of an allergy. Sinus membranes may be sensitive to dust or other things. Bacteria may accumulate, resulting in sinus infection.

Sinusitis often causes pain and tenderness above the sinus cavities, the pain being felt in the face, forehead, and eyes. Some persons report that the pain is worse in the mornings, easing as the day goes along. The infection associated with sinusitis usually is not serious and often can be cleared up with a course of antibiotics. It is necessary to take all the antibiotic medicine prescribed. Narcotics or less powerful prescription pain relievers help relieve facial pain. Nose drops (nasal decongestants) may be prescribed to lessen nasal inflammation and congestion.

The Historical Society wonders if you realize how much Indians have given us. The place names we borrowed from them, the crops they first cultivated, the implements they used, and the products they made have all become a part of our civilization now. They have enriched us. The June meeting of the Historical Society will feature a talk by Curator Larry Billings on "Our Cultural Heritage." The building committee have done some work upstairs in the museum. Some school children visited the museum recently.

Calvary Congregational Church The Good Shepherd Puppeteers were here for the Sunday School Hour. Great men of faith, Noah, David, and Daniel were acted out, with special music, scripture reading Eph. 5:18-21. Carole Stuart was in charge of munchkins and juice after this hour.

Albert Buzell opened the worship hour with responsive reading on "joy" the morning message: Hagga 2:1-5. Be strong with a determination to do God's work. Don't get discouraged, carry on. All emotions are good when regulated by the Word of God. Don't let feelings dictate how we face life. Be strong and work. The choir sang "Come, Christian, Join and Sing." Special music by the Puppeteers, medley of songs.

A baked lasagna dinner followed the service.

Summer Hours take effect June 2nd 9:30 a.m. There is a sign up sheet for those wishing to help on refreshments for the summer.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

Most of the night the rain fell with a soft patter on the roof. The day began gray but I went out into the world of wetness and flowers, of robins making little watery calls. Other birds were everywhere but my prize visitor was a scarlet tanager in his gala uniform. The male is a most delightful color in his brilliant red coat and shiny black wings. As he flashed among the leaves, he was indeed gorgeous. His song is quite loud and pretty and is sometimes compared to the robin with a cold, because of the wheezing quality.

Back for the summer is the rose breasted grosbeak and the hummingbird, with a rainbow whirl of wings, because they revolve so fast; yet they give an illusion of stillness. The long beak seemed held to a magnet as it took nectar from the flowers. For a few minutes I stood there elated, while the essence of summer touched me and the twitter of the birds dripped from among the leaves like the rain drops of last night.

Another constant visitor is "the scrap of sunset," the Baltimore Oriole. For some time I have heard him call from the tree tops "Here, here, up here."

One day I went to the farm and walked the fields to see the lilacs and to listen to the Bobo-links. No place have I seen are there so many as in the farm fields. As I walked I heard the jubilant song from one of my favorite birds. I always look forward every spring to the joyous, rollicking, musical notes tumbling over each other, sounding somewhat like the jingling of coins.

Swallows dipped and rocked having their fun, too.

Of course the black flies were out to take a few sips from my neck and ears but I returned to the farm safely.

So I'll keep the lovely golden day a treasured time apart like warm days of childhood saved softly in my heart.

Dot Betts took six teachers to Gray on Wednesday where we met Doris Hayes and her sister Verna Libby for lunch then spent the afternoon with Doris at her home.

Friday evening Fay Holt, her daughter, Ann and I went to Augusta to the dance recital of Jenny Holt. Saturday, I attended the Retired Teachers in Oxford with Lettie Brooks.

Mr. and Mrs. John Betts were in New Hampshire during the weekend to attend the play "Peter Pan." It was directed by their daughter, Barbara Spofford.

Robert, Jenny and Fay Holt went to Boston on May 20 where all visited their eye specialist.

Eva Felton has returned home from several days treatment at Central Maine Medical Center, in Lewiston.

While there she received a "Sunshine Box" from her friends here in town. We all wish her well.

Katherine Hakala will return this week from a visit with her sister Barbara, in Washington State.

Beverly Fox and John Harmon are receiving congratulations on their marriage at the church here Saturday afternoon, by the Rev. Janice Wilcox. A reception was held at the church vestry.

Several attended the graveside services of John Files, Jr., Tuesday at Oxford.

It is nice to see the humming birds once more. I have four, they are very interesting.

Mrs. Grace Nelson and I went to a cemetery in Bethel Sunday. It is a very nicely kept one. My brother is buried there.

Mrs. Betty Farwell of Norway came over and had breakfast with me Monday morning.

I read Mr. Walker's story, as I always do, and wonder why I don't have any swallows. My barn used to be full.

Locke Mills

By LORRAINE MILLS

The Greenwood Fire Department meets Wednesday, June 5 at the fire station at 7 p.m. for the monthly meeting.

The Greenwood Historical Society meets Wednesday, June 5 at 7:30 p.m. at the building on Main Street.

John Mills and John Ludlum returned home Saturday afternoon after attending the Men's Retreat at the Sheraton Inn in North Conway. Lorraine Mills stayed with Julie, Jack, and Joel Ludlum Friday evening while John was at the retreat and Alta was at work in Rumford Community Hospital.

Vera Cross has been busy along with some of the rest of us in decorating the graves for Memorial Day. She and Eileen Dunham went to Howe Hill, then she and Nellie Swan decorated at Riverside. Edgar and Mae Dunham accompanied her to Albany. Gladys Jordan and Vera decorated the Gold Star Mothers and Auxiliary members at the cemetery at the head of Lake Christopher and the Hicks Cemetery. Alan Seames took his four wheel drive and transported Vera and Leland Dunham to the cemetery in South Woodstock to do on Sunday. She has a regular itinerary.

Gerry Shimamura took me to Harrison so I could put some plants on my father's lot on Thursday. Ralph plans to come for part of the Memorial weekend so he probably will help with decorating the rest of them. It's hard to know what the weather will be this time of year so didn't dare to do too much too early.

Went to see my sister-in-law Carolyn Colby Tuesday evening. On the way we saw a beautiful orange cat in the other lane that had been killed. I couldn't believe it when over two hours later it was still there. I went home, got a shovel and went back and moved it out of the road. Luckily no one had gone over it but wonder how many cars passed by during that time and no one had seen fit to stop and move the poor thing. I know there are times when one hits something and can't stop because of the traffic behind or if one is on a one way street can't get back, but most times that's not the case. I used to bury anything we hit but realize now with cats someone may be looking for it. This was before I started my cat orphanage. I have been very fortunate and have only hit a bird which I felt bad enough about. If it had stayed on the road I could have missed it but it flew up under the car. I sincerely hope that is all I ever hit. That was enough.

Warren Smith is home from Maine Medical Center, Portland, and is convalescing satisfactorily from his recent surgery.

Helen French was taken to Rumford Community Hospital recently. I haven't heard if she is home yet.

I am supposed to have Linda Gibbs's dog Candy for the weekend so the Gibbs family can go camping. Hopefully Linda, who was operated on in her hand repaired, will feel like going. She said Thursday it was very painful. The Greenwood Fire Department was called out Thursday afternoon to extinguish a fire at an old storage shed on Bird Hill.

Newry

By JIM ANDERSON

Not much news this week. Bowling news: Once again Karlene Bachelier won high single and high triple game. This makes the 4th week in a row and I wish Gil would beat her again!

Speaking about Gil, she has had with her, her niece Todi Theresa from Rhode Island for a few days. On May 22, Gil brought over to the Anderson's place some vegies and some lilacs. Thanks Gil!

June 1st, there is to be a flea market at the Newry Town Hall from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. You can rent a space from June 2nd, but you have to provide the tables. The Newry Mother's Club will have a refreshment table.

Monday night May 20, we had a meeting of the Newry Fire Department at the Sunday River Fire House. We talked about Haz Mat Material and the three fires we were involved in since our last meeting.

I am almost caught up on special chores around the house. Just have a new garden to finish planting, a ceiling to replace, and keep the grass cut.

From time to time everyone needs a little pat on the back.

MAHOOSUC ARTS COUNCIL

Telstar High School band students were treated to a two-day mini-residency with obect, whistler and jazz enthusiast Brad Terry and his band, Friends of Jazz. This program was sponsored by the Mahoosuc Arts Council as part of the Council's Programs in the Schools. Terry—recently returned from a music tour in Poland—spent all day May 9 working and rehearsing with the Telstar Band students. On Friday, May 10 Terry invited the band students to join Friends of Jazz as they introduced kindergarten through high school audiences in SAD #44 to the world of jazz and improvisation. Several members of the Telstar Band were also invited to perform with Friends of Jazz in the Mahoosuc Arts final concert of the 1990-91 season.

As the residency began, band members shared apprehension at having to improvise and perform for the assembly programs without the aid of written music; however, as each student was invited to perform a solo improvisation at the evening concert, the stage presence they exhibited matched that of seasoned performers.

The Mahoosuc Arts season draws to a close Sunday, June 2 with the 1990-91 Annual Meeting and Celebration. Pianist Ross Swain will perform for a social hour from 7 to 8 p.m. at which time Mahoosuc Board Chairman Art Marshall will share highlights of the year and call the annual meeting to order. Anyone who has supported the Council with gifts of time or money is invited to join this gathering in the Holden Lounge at Gould Academy in Bethel. For more information about this and other Mahoosuc Arts programs, please call the Mahoosuc office at 824-3475.

News from the Bethel AreaHealth Center

The "Basic Weight Training" class begins in two weeks here at the Health Center. The course is offered through SAD #44 Adult and Community Education. It will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings from 6:30-7:30 p.m. through July 10. The course will be taught by exercise physiologist Joel Hinshaw and will cover the general principles and practice of a weight training program.

The benefits of weight training according to Hinshaw are determined by an individual's goals. Basically weight training can be put into two categories: Exercise for strength and exercise for endurance. No matter what your goals there should be a day of rest in between work outs to allow muscle fibers to repair and grow.

Another important principle to remember is that weight training alone will not reduce fat percentage. Caloric expenditure occurs in the presence of oxygen, as in aerobic exercise such as running, swimming or biking. A weight training program needs to be done in conjunction with aerobic activities and thorough warm up and cool down to protect muscles from injury. Hinshaw has extensive experience setting up and conducting various exercise programs here and in the Middle East. He is now consulting with the Health Center on a weekly basis, planning community programs for the Health Center's Exercise Program. To register for the "Basic Weight Training" class please call the Adult Ed office at 824-2780.

The BASIC Exercise Program is scheduled to officially open on June 4. To become a member you must go through an Orientation class, sign a consent form and pay a membership fee. The first two orientation classes are scheduled for May 30, 6:30 to 8 a.m. and June 3, 5:30-7 p.m. The orientation will include information on how to exercise safely, how to use the Universal gym appropriately in terms of body mechanics, specific exercises for specific muscle groups, and appropriate weight for each exercise. To register for an orientation, please call the Health Center. To become a member of the exercise program you must go through an orientation or take a class with Joel Hinshaw.

Other Health Center happenings include: free hearing clinic on June 14th, from 9-4 p.m. Call the Health Center to make an appointment.

School physicals at the Health Center reduced price May-June (20 percent) and July-August (15 percent).

CROSS COUNTRY QUILTERS

Chapter banners are to be present at the State Pine Tree Quilters Quilt Show in Orono July 26-28 and future shows from each chapter in the state.

Four members attended the Area Three meeting in Harrison April 9. The May 7 meeting was a trip to "Keepsake Quilting" in Meridith, N.H. Trek Across Maine is filled to capacity

For the second consecutive year the "Trek Across Maine—Sunday River to the Sea" has been filled to capacity. This year over 740 registrations have been received, with 90 percent of the participants from Maine, but others from as far away as Georgia and Arizona.

The bicyclists will range in age from 10 to 73. The event will be held on June 14-16, 1991 with the bicyclists beginning their trek from the Sunday River Ski Resort with overnight stays in Farmington and Waterville and a grand finish scheduled for Rockport on Sunday June 16.

The event is a fundraiser for the American Lung Association of Maine. This year's trek income totals could reach $240,000, with 90 percent of the money raised staying in Maine to help the lung association with programs for clean air and healthy lungs.

The Lung Association said the success of the 1991 Trek Across Maine is in large part a reflection of its great sponsors—The Sunday River Ski Resort, L.L. Bean, Fleet Bank and WGME-TV. For information on the 1992 Trek Across Maine contact the American Lung Association of Maine at 1-800-482-LUNG.

THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words, comfort and help for your daily life.

The other day I stopped to see a friend and caught her in the middle of spring cleaning. She had taken down a number of photos from her walls and was cleaning their frames and glass.

I saw older folks now passed on, and little ones who have long since grown up or, tragically, died young. I could imagine the commitment that held these families together, the love they shared, the joys, the sorrows. What a rich life! What memories old photos bring back!

On Memorial Day we especially honor the men and women who died serving in the armed forces. I hope we also remember and honor those who kept the home fires burning; those who showed hospitality to people who had to leave their homes; those who kept in touch with folks far from home; those who made home worth sacrificing for.

Our memories enrich our lives and give us strength for living in the present. Properly used they can help us build toward a future in which the same commitment and love that made home worth sacrificing for will help us leave the world better than we found it.

There are other memories that help us do this, memories which come from a time many centuries before our own, and are captured not in photos but in words. They are the memories of people who heard and responded to God's word. If we share them with each other, they too can give us strength for living and for making our world a place for justice and peace for all peoples.

Take for instance the words recorded by a prophet six centuries before Christ. In this poem, God has just been talking about the power God's words have to accomplish what God intends. Then God gives this promise: "For you shall go out in joy, and be led forth in peace; the mountains and the hills before you shall break forth into singing, and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands. Instead of the thorn shall come up the cypress; instead of the brier shall come up the myrtle; and it shall be to the Lord for a memorial, for an everlasting sign which shall not be cut off" (Isaiah 55:12-13).
